Story

Johnny is at a loss. Cars are being broken into and things stolen from them in the playground of his school! And not only that: in the cars there are always objects that belong to him: his pen, his cap ... but he has nothing to do with it! The teachers and his foster parents are not much help. On the contrary, they believe that he did it! What is he supposed to do? Luckily, Samira, a girl who goes to the neighbouring primary school, helps him. Samira knows her stuff! She knows that detectives work with fingerprint powder, and she's really clever. Together they set out to find the car thief and try to prove Johnny's innocence.
